Not illustrated. 1813 Excerpt: .you refer, headed no article in his index with tha words de Celebratione missce, excepting that decree, under which you meanly and Ignorantly seek a subterfuge. Were it worth my while proculcare jacenterrt, I could tell the fastidious retailer of Index knowledge, that every Priest unfurnished with the recommendation of his Ordinary was in the eyes of Dr. Troy both vagus el ignotus, and under the prohibitory decree of the Council of Trent an individuum vagum, which he could not recognize as a proper subject to impart faculties unto. Thus tar Reverend Doctor, you stand before the respectable Prelate in the case of an indifferent Clergyman coming into his archdiocese, and there celebrating the Mass without having produced letters of recommendation from your Ordinary, or made any sort of application for faculties to him, who alone could grant them, and without whose approbation and consent, no Priest could without in exercise any sacerdotal function within his jurisdiction. Because he warned you with exemplary lenity, that by so doing - qoi.ilt w yon incurred the Censures of the Church, you intemperately launch out into that torrent of abuse, scurrility irrelevancy, falsehood, calumny, and irreverence, which defiles every page of Columbanus, Ao. V. Up to the moment of your receipt of Dr. Troy s letter to you of the 17th of July I agree with you. that in the question note before the public, the public is deeply concerned; the Catholic JPriesthood is universally involved. Bat from the...
