Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Archives of Pediatrics, Vol. 5: A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Diseases of Infants and Young Children, January to December, 1888 As intellect and knowledge are required for finding those indications, so there is need of tact and experience to apply and fulfil them. Some of them are plain enough. It is clear that in conditions of great debility there must be no further reduction of strength; an irritated cerebrum must not be excited; hemorrhages, peritonitis, dysentery, perityphlitis require absolute rest; a hyperaesthetic stomach must not be overfed; a gastro-enteritis resulting from the presence of ferments must do without milk; convalescence and acute inflammatory fevers must be protected. Still, there are chronic fevers with fair digestion, which permit of generous feeding. All these indications and rules are equally valid for both the adult and the young. Still, the latter have some peculiarities which alter the application of general rules to a considerable extent, for several reasons. Of these I shall mention but a few in this connection. Habits, which play an all-important part in...
